Every possible arrangement was made for their safety and comfort on their journey to and from Kabul as well as during their stay in Afghanistan, and the utmost kindness and consideration were shown to them by the Amir and his sons, and by all the officials with whom they came in contact. They were honoured by many long interviews with Abdur Rahman, and were much impressed by his business knowledge and shrew! discrimination, and by his immense capacity for work. The Amir personally conduets all State affairs, and goes into every detail with systematic thoroughness. He frequently emphasised a desire that his people should be brought into closer commercial relationship with the people of India, and exressed his regret that the former rulers of Afghanistan had been insensible to the advantages to be gained therefrom. He told the deputation that he feared the feelings of

THE COST OF THE GERMAN COLONIES. BEELIN, 25th October. The Imperial Council assembled yesterday to deliberate on the casatisfactory state of affairs in the German colonies and to discuss subsidies proposed in the imperial budget. The appropriations for the Cameroons, heretofore 270,000 marks, will probably be reduced to 142,000. For Sout-hwest Africa the appropriation contemplated is 292,300 marks.

It is noteworthy that no regular budget has vet been established for East Africa, requiring die largest sum die Mi. This item appears nuder the heading of non-recurring expenditures, and it is now believed that a separate budget is contemplated, because the imperial force has replaced the protective at Bagamoyo.

The Germans are beginning to realize that something is wrong with their colonial system, and that Bismarck's famous declaration, "I am not on- of your colonial enthusiasts," had considerable hard sense at the back of it Too much money is spent by the German Government, the people say, for intangible results; there is too much bloodshed and too little commercial profit. THE EMPEROR WILLIAM'S BEARD.

BERLIN, 25th October. The interesting event of the week at the court was the thirty-second birthday, last Thursday, of the Empress. All public and private buildingswere decorated. Birthdaysare great occasions in Germany and the Potsdam festivities throw a very pretty sidelight on the military monarch, who is one of the best of fathers and a most sympathetic man. At the news of the sacrifice of his beard the whole country smiled, because, from the appearance of that hirente adorament, it was evident that no ordinary wife would put up with it twenty-four hours if she could help it. Consequently when it became known he had made the Empress a present of his beard it became apparent that her majesty held some opinion about it. Everyb dy else did. Among the presents the Emperor gave his wife was a life-sized portrait of himself in the uniform of the imperial bodygoards, with an eagle helmet; also six admirable water colours painted by General von Wittich, commemorating the trip to Windsor, Holland, Greece and Turkey.
